

Starting a Safe Routes to Schools program or want to make your program even more successful?

We offer tailor-made trainings and consulting services with experts who have successfully worked in all kinds of elementary and middle schools. We also provide ready to use materials, templates, and curriculum. Trainings and consulting are offered on a fee-for-service basis.

Contact us for rates. (510) 740-3150 ext. 323

Possible Training & Consulting Topics Include:

- Getting your program off the ground
- Starting and maintaining a successful Walking School Bus program
- Winning safety and infrastructure improvements near your school
- Engaging parents and the entire school community
- Working with teachers and principals to integrate the program into the curriculum
- Harnessing after-school programs
- Overcoming challenges in under-resourced schools

Meet Nora Cody

Nora has successfully grown the Safe Routes to Schools program in Alameda County from two schools to more than 75. Nora knows what it takes to succeed in today's challenging educational environment and has worked in a wide range of urban and suburban schools. Nora is the primary trainer and consultant.

"The resources and expertise that Nora Cody provided have been absolutely invaluable."

Tina Panza, Director, Safe Routes to School, Sonoma County Bicycle Coalition

"Nora's approach is practical and engaging. She understands the needs of diverse stakeholders and provides communities with tools to creatively make walking and bicycling safer and more inviting for youth."

Jennifer Rice, Co-Director Natural Resources Services Division of Redwood Community Action Agency, Eureka, CA

TRANSFORM

Contact: Nora Cody, Program Director
Safe Routes to Schools Alameda County Partnership
TransForm
(510) 740-3150 ext. 323
nora@transformca.org